

THOMAS C. RADABAUGH AND ANDY EWING TO MACK

In front of Petersburg Va March 10th 1865

Dear Cousin Mack

Again I seat me to write a few lines to you. I am here in a hole in the ground, the same one in which you were wounded. I have got no hole in my own yet, and am Just boarding out or rather I am helping to occupy this hole till DC gets back. Then I must either make a hole for myself or go without a hole. In fact mack I have got to be so dirty that I hardly know myself from a hole in the ground. and if it comes to the worst I can Just creep in and say I am at home. It's a bully place to pass away time here. One day and night we eat and Sleep, and the next day and night we Sleep and eat, So you see we have a change of seens each day. And the weather also, one day it rains and the next day it pores down. One day we have lots to eat, and the next day we have enough. One day we have hard tack and the next day Soft bread. One day we get beef and the next Sowbelly. Bulley for the Sowbelly. And was on picket yesterday, and Sam is on picket today I have not been on picket yet, neither do I want to go on if I can help it Well Mack I havent got a letter since I have been here and I am beginning to get almost wrathly about it. Andy gets one most every day, and sometimes two. Well I guess Ile Stop now and let Adam finish this letter. I am not very well yet Please write as soon as you get this. Dont fall in love with one of them Sisters there. Now goodby Mack. Keep your nose clean. T C Radabaugh

Note: Thomas C. Radabaugh wrote to father with this letter that he was living in the same "hole in the ground in which father was wounded. That as soon as D.C. Cherington returned, he would have to get a hole of his own or do without one. Radabaugh called Andy by his middle name, Adam. The "Sam" referred to was Sam Helsel.

Note: Charles Daniels enlisted at age 23 in Company D at Hillsdale and was mustered in on April 8, 1864, along with the others. He was missing in action near Petersburg on July 30, 1864, and was mustered out on July 28, 1865. The details for James Beard are the same, except that he was mustered out 10 days earlier. Andy probably meant $203.15 in the figures he quotes.
