PUBLIC COMMENT

Chris Patterson asked what the procedure was for a request for reconsideration. Hudson asked Mr. Patterson to desist from any additional questioning.

A gentleman noted that there were two (2) key issues in one of the cases today; (1) due process and (2) care versus cost.

A public member thanked the Board for its work today on the Rossetto case.

Chris Patterson addressed the Board again, stating that there were issues that were not brought out in the record. Today was an injustice, and zero due process was shown. Hudson asked Mr. Patterson to desist from additional questioning.

In general terms, Mr. Patterson noted that Dr. Pol has three (3) options. (1) He cannot send the case back to Administrative Law Judge; (2) he can look at procedures that are in place; and (3) he can determine what is the appropriate remedy. Mr. Patterson had Petitions that had been signed since Sunday, March 22, 2015 that had collected over 10,000 signatures to dismiss the Pol complaint. Hudson told him that the Board could not accept these documents and asked him to take them back.

A mother addressed the Board who brought her 5-year old daughter with her today. Her daughter watches Dr. Pol all the time and just loves him. She stated she was sorry that she brought her daughter to this meeting today. She further commented that she was sorry that the Board felt it was about money versus care. She is going to write her Congressman because things need to change. She referred to today's meeting as a "media circus." She further explained that Dr. Pol had walked her through care over the phone on Labor Day weekend when her daughter's pet chicken had medical issues. The chicken survived, and Dr. Pol is a good veterinarian.

A gentleman addressed the Board and stated that Dr. Pol takes care of all types of animals from cows to horses to alpacas. He will do anything he can do to care for an animal. Animals are second to humans. Dr. Pol didn't get fair treatment, and today was an injustice. The audience today shows the support for him. He will help any animal, any time, and any place. He supports Dr. Pol 100%.

A gentleman asked what the process would be if another Petition came back before this Board regarding Dr. Pol. Hudson asked the gentleman to desist from further questioning, however, did respond that there are remedies for an appeal process and reconsideration.

A public member asked, "who makes your rules?"

A public member commented about the veterinarians who have the luxury of having the latest equipment versus the affordable veterinarians who can get by with what they have. The fluff isn't needed if they can still do their job and not charge so much to people that cannot afford those high costs.

Charles Pol commented that what the Board is suggesting today is that it is better to put your dog down than having Dr. Pol perform surgery.

A female explained that her son could not afford the $1,500.00 vet bill he received from the Michigan State University (MSU) Veterinary Clinic for services to his dog. He then took the dog to his 82-year old veterinarian who undid what was done at MSU. The dog left there with less stress and pain. If he could have gone to Dr. Pol, he would have. It's all about the cost. Old technology is outdated and it cost more to have the latest technology. It would save pet owners a lot of money. Dr. Pol's television show is the number one show on the National Geographic channel.

A female noted that she was a high school agricultural teacher and works part time for a pet food company. She thanked Dr. Pol for having the television show, as she uses it for teaching her students about pets. She is saddened by the Board's decision today.

A female stated that she has been taking her pets to Dr. Pol for 17 years. For the past year, she has not even been charged for an office visit. He has compassion and people can afford care and medicine with Dr. Pol. He is a pillar of the community and also a community volunteer. Amish people trust Dr. Pol and take their horses to him for care. She disagrees with the Board's decision today.

A gentleman from Edmore, Michigan addressed the Board, stating that he has been raising race horses and having Dr. Pol service his farm since 1987. Dr. Pol has made it possible for him to be successful. Dr. Pol has all of his support.

A public member stated that he has been taking his animals to Dr. Pol for over 20 years. Dr. Pol always considers what is the best care for the animals, not necessarily putting money into his wallet.

Another public member spoke that he has used Dr. Pol for over 20 years and feels that today's ruling was an injustice.

Another public member spoke that there was an 8-hour hearing, which was a trial where a judge takes testimony. This is one guy's opinion. He is not sure how the Board gets or gives their input. There were no due process rights for Dr. Pol today. He then asked what is the rule why there can't be an exchange of conversation. You can't say anything relevant to the case because that is how the Board rolls.

The last public member stated that a successful outcome means nothing in a case that goes before the Board.
